If we analyze or observe their progression level, most of the students (~90%) took admission for higher studies, which reflects that our teaching learning process is in tune with the objective of the institution. Students from the Departments of Bengali, Economics, Education, English, History, and Political Science have secured attainment of level 2. Students of these programmes are generally coming from economically marginalized family. Most of them are first-generation learners. Our focus group discussion revealed that even after receiving scholarships, they engaged themselves in part-time jobs to support their education. Continuous encouragement and mental support from the faculty members of the college helped to achieve such attainment.
